Lincoln County Chapter Donates Funds to Support Appraiser Education

Chapter Challenges Others to Donate

CHICAGO -- The Education and Research Trust (E&R Trust) announced today that the Lincoln County Chapter (Missouri) of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers (NAIFA) has donated $500 to fund new and emerging education for today's professional appraiser. The E&R Trust provides educational funding to NAIFA, an organization with more than 2,000 professional appraiser members.

"Top quality education is the lifeblood of NAIFA, supplying funds to the E&R Trust ensures that the future educational needs of our members are met, we are thrilled to provide this donation and challenge other NAIFA chapters to donate as well," said Dorothy Humphrey, IFA, President of the Lincoln County Chapter.

The Lincoln County Chapter has very few members, which is what makes them so unique. Each member receives NAIFA approved education on a regular basis, which is partially funded by the E&R Trust. The Chapter was able to raise funds for the E&R Trust following several successful education events for appraisers in their area.
